

Brandenburgisches Landeshauptarchiv
Bibliothek

Signatur: 6 A 7021
Verfasser: Nischan, Bodo
Titel: Prince, people, and confession

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
List of Illustrations	xiii
Maps	xv
Introduction	i
 Chapter 1. A Via Media Reformation	 5
I) Joachim I: Pro-Imperial and Roman	5
II) The Joachimian Reform	11
III) The 1540 Ordinance	17
IV) The Schmalkaldic War and the Interim	25
V) Dynastic Ambitions	29
 Chapter 2. The Triumph of Concordian Lutheranism	 34
I) Toward a More Rigid Lutheranism	34
II) Confessional Consolidation	40
III) The Survival of Joachimian Ritual	46
IV) New Fears of Calvinism	49
 Chapter 3. The Threat of Catholic Counter-Reformation	 56
I) The Magdeburg Administrator	56
II) Confessional Realignment	63
III) Political Considerations	73
 Chapter 4. The Hohenzollern Conversion	 81
I) Education and Upbringing	81
II) The Christmas Communion	91
III) The Question of Motives	94

IV) "Highly Important Persons"	98
V) The Political Side	103
Chapter 5. Enforcing the Second Reformation	111
I) The Plan	111
II) Confessional Clarification	116
III) Coordination	121
IV) Education	126
Chapter 6. Reforming Popular Piety	132
I) Eliminating the "Leftover Papal Dung"	132
II) Reform of Worship	137
III) Art and Music	145
IV) The Church Calendar	153
V) Indifferent Matters	158
Chapter 7. The Lutheran Counteroffensive	161
I) The Clerical Reaction	161
II) Appeals to the People	176
Chapter 8. The Popular Response	185
I) The Berlin "Parliament"	185
II) The Spread of Popular Opposition	193
III) Continued Apathy and Hostility	196
Chapter 9. The Limits of Reformation	204
I) The Estates' Reaction	204
II) The Prussian Response	211
III) The Failure of Reformation	217
IV) Crisis and War	223
Chapter 10. Concession and Compromise	235
I) In the Confessional Arena	235
II) In the Political Arena	246

List of Abbreviations	261
Notes	263
Bibliography	327
Index	359